What is needed to partner?

A business that decides to offer credit union membership benefits to their employees must simply write a letter to the Credit Union requesting that we open a membership for the business. Please see sample letter on the next page.

After the letter is received, it is presented to the Board of Directors to approve (a NCUA rule.)

After approved, the Credit Union notifies the business and confirms who the contact person that we will be working with to send monthly information and to schedule visits.

It's easy. It's simple. And it is FREE!
